Summer skin brings a new host of problems you might not be used to at other times in the year. You've got your sunburns, your bug bites, and runny makeup due to sweat, to name a few. That said, there are products out there that can have you feeling like a million bucks and keep those problems to a minimum.

A good sunscreen can protect your skin from the damages of UV rays, hydrate your skin, and placate redness. We found some crowd-favorites discounted on Amazon just in time for your outdoor adventures for the Fourth of July.

Shoppers love EltaMD sunscreen as a face block in particular and you can score it for less right now. If you're looking for a combination sunscreen and moisturizer all in one, Cetaphil is inexpensive and worth a try. Our favorite mineral sunscreen that we've tested is half of over at Amazon—we love this sunscreen by Hawaiian Tropic because it's lightweight and smells great.
